

Important change to our Income Protection (IP) insurance

Under our IP insurance, the premium you pay is determined by the salary we've recorded on your account.

Going forward, we won't change the salary we use for your IP insurance unless you ask us to. We may use salary information we receive from your employer to decide to reach out to you about your insurance, but we won't automatically update your salary based on that information.

How is your IP benefit calculated? If you make a claim, the salary used to calculate your benefit is the lesser of your actual salary and the one recorded on your account.

Make sure your salary is up to date: It's important you keep your salary up to date to ensure you're paying the correct amount for your insurance and your benefit amount reflects your circumstances if you make a claim.

To update your salary, you can:

1. Call us on 13 64 63; or
2. Complete a Change my insurance form which you can find at mine.com.au/insurance-forms

For more information about the insurance offered by Mine Super, please refer to our Product Disclosure Statement and Insurance Guide, which you can find at mine.com.au/super-pds

As always, if you have any questions, please call us on 13 64 63 or email help@mine.com.au
